

Computing Educators Oral History Project

Jane Prey video snippet transcript

Recorded July 2007

Available both via the ceohp.org website and on CEOHP's YouTube channel
<http://www.youtube.com/user/CEOHP#p/u/5/v-htul8sjjo>

Copyright Statement

This video transcript is being made available for research purposes only. All literary rights in the transcript, including the right to publish, are reserved to the Computing Educators Oral History Project. No part of the transcript may be quoted for publication, except by the interviewee, without the written permission of the Director of the Computing Educators Oral History Project.

Request for permission to quote for publication should be addressed to Barbara Boucher Owens, either by email at ceohp@ceohp.org or via postal mail at Computing Educators Oral History Project, Southwestern University, P.O. Box 770, Georgetown, TX 78627-0770 USA. The request should identify the specific passages to be quoted, describe the anticipated use of the passages, and identify the requestor.

We recommend that this video transcript be cited as follows:

Jane Prey, "Home homework while growing up," a video interview from 20079, Computing Educators Oral History Project. Online: ceohp.org.

Home homework while growing up

When I was little, my brother and I, every day after school, my father would require us to do a page in our math workbook before we could go out to play. During the summer, we had more pages to do, but every night during the school year we had to do a page. And the kids in the neighborhood used to laugh because the Chou kids had to do home homework before they could come out to play.